

Welcome to Western Australia's first statewide cider trail

Passionately crafted from Western Australian fruit

Come and meet the families that have passionately tended local apple and pear orchards for generations and experience our award-winning ciders.

Our trail starts in the Swan Valley then meanders through the Perth Hills before bringing you through the South West and into the Great Southern region. Along the way you are invited to taste ciders born from the state's different apple growing regions. The ciders are handcrafted using local fruit and traditional and brew style methods. Your cider experience will open you to new perceptions and understanding of its unique characteristics.

Our cider makers will share with you their distinct style whether it be steeped in tradition or a modern twist. They are growers and seekers of the freshest local produce with a desire to offer you a pure and natural cider product.

Leave behind your preconceived ideas of cider. Indulge your tastebuds and immerse yourself in the variety of venue attractions from orchard and cellar door experiences through to dining and family fun and comfort.

What is cider?

Cider is the fermented juice of apples and sometimes pears. Perry (or pear cider) is the fermented juice of pears and sometimes apples. There are many styles of cider with differences driven by the variety of fruit, the location and cider making techniques. Ask about this during your travels on the Western Australian Cider Trail and be surprised at the diversity of our local cider industry.

Proud to be 100% Australian grown

All of the businesses on this trail are members of Cider Australia and are entitled to use their trust mark. The trust mark is displayed on ciders made with 100% Australian grown apples and pears. The focus is on the origin of the fruit because that is a crucial part of what makes a cider unique.

When you buy a cider with the trust mark you are not only buying a premium product but also supporting Australian growers, Australian jobs and our local communities. The trust mark is an industry-led initiative owned and managed by Cider Australia, the national association for the cider industry in Australia. www.cideraustralia.org.au
