Warren National Park

This place offered us everything... If we weren't canoeing or fishing we were hiking amongst beautiful karri trees. We even climbed the tree tower.

Nearby things to see and do

Dave Evans Bicentennial Tree

You can climb to the top of this tree for fantastic views. There is also a great picnic spot at the tree.

Marianne North tree

Marianne North spent a lot of time touring the south west where she was inspired to create many paintings including one of this very distinctive tree.

Heartbreak Trail Walk

Selected as one of WA's Top Trails, this is a magnificent 10.5 km walk through beautiful karri forest and along the Warren River.

Warren lookout

Beautiful views of the Warren River Valley. FM radio—tune to 100 FM..

Karri Forest Explorer

Wind through some of the south-west's most magnificent karri forest with this 86km drive.

Camping at Drafty's Camp

Drafty's Campsite consists of shady campsites spread along the Warren River and amongst the karri trees. There are two loops which offer camping sites.

Loop one— 16 sites and camp kitchen. Loop two— 5 sites.

There is a day use area in between the two loops which allows for river access and BBQ facilities.

Please respect other campers and keep the camp kitchen clean and tidy.

Camping at Warren camp

Warren Campsite is situated towards the end of the Heartbreak Trail and offers 6 shady riverside campsites. There is a communal BBQ area which offers access to the river as well.

Camping fees are compulsory at the above campsites

Refer to the 'Fees and charges — A visitors guide' brochure.

These fees contribute to the provision and maintenance of recreation facilities and visitor services within the park.
