Tips... Four wheel driving

Let your tyres down— to suit conditions. Reduced tyre pressure increases grip on sand therefore making driving easier. It will also reduce cutting up the track. Carry a portable tyre pump/air compressor.

Engage four wheel drive— before you reach soft sand and don't attempt river crossings alone.

Select right gear— most people get into trouble changing gears in soft sand. Experiment a little until you find the right gear.

Keep to the tracks— Don't create new ones. Driving on vegetation destroys it.

Drive slowly—along narrow one-way tracks and sound your horn before blind corners and crests to warn others you are coming.
