

Hiking in Lesueur National Park

There are a variety of trails in the park that start from here, depending on how much time you have and what type of experience you want.

Botanical Path

Class 1

440m return Allow 30 minutes

The wheelchair and pram accessible trail starts here and takes you to the Iain Wilson Lookout. Interpretive signs along the way explain the biology and traditional uses of some of the 900+ plant species in the park.

Gairdner Trail

Class 3

1.8km loop Allow 1.5 hours

Follow the trail towards the Iain Wilson Lookout.

Continue on through kwongan heath and low woodlands of wandoo to the sandstone outcrops of Gairdner Ridge. The map on the signs at various intersections will direct you back to the carpark.

Lesueur Trail

Class 3

3.5km return Allow 1- 3 hours

Lesueur trail starts along the same trail as the Gairdner Trail but continues in a south-west direction. The trail is initially flat and sandy underfoot but then climbs up the slope of Mount Lesueur via a switchback. The flat top mesa stands out in the distance. Once you reach the summit you are rewarded with spectacular views.

Hike safely
tread lightly

Be prepared

- Hiking on hot and windy days is not advised due to heightened bushfire risk.
- Wear a hat, protective clothing, sturdy footwear and sunscreen.
- Carry plenty of drinking water, at least 1 litre per person/per hour. Drink small amounts regularly to avoid dehydration.

Stay on track

- Use boot scrub stations provided at the start of the trail to help restrict the spread of the plant disease Dieback.
- Remain on the trail to prevent erosion and plant damage.

Be careful

- Avoid the likelihood of tick bites by staying on the trail. Spray clothes and outerwear with an appropriate insect repellent.

Department of Biodiversity,
Conservation and Attractions

Bobtail lizard © Kathy Himbeck

Honey possum © Kathy Himbeck

